We're Proud

Of Our School

This 60th anniversary year of Garrett High School has been filled with pride, tradition and achievements. For those students who won awards, participated in clubs and sports, did well in classes, and especially for the class of '82, it has been a year we will never forget.

The student body of Garrett is full of enthusiastic school spirit and pride.

Through our involvement in the curriculum and organizations of our school as well as in our community, the dedication and determination of Garrett citizens shine through.

For everyone in Garrett this has been a special time. GHS has been an integral part of the community for 60 years and will continue to be as long as the city of Garrett exists.

"Our Pride Is Showing" is an appropriate theme for this book of memories. Our school with its history of pride and tradition, as proclaimed on the walls of our gymnasium, tells all who enter that this is the home of the Garrett Railroaders and of this we are proud.

GATE 1  GARRETT
THRU THIS GATE PASS
THE WORLD'S GREATEST FANS

Hixson earns dual crowns

The 20th annual Miss Garrett Pageant featured 13 talented girls. Mrs. Pat Gilliland was in charge of planning.

When the final moment came, Joy Hixson, sponsored by Psi Iota Xi, was crowned Miss Garrett by the reigning queen, Beth Van Zile. Kelly Bonar, Sigma Phi Gamma, was named runner-up. Beth Vanderbosch, Tri Kappa, did a jazz routine to win the talent award. Joy tap danced and sang songs from "42nd Street" for her talent. Kelly performed a ventriloquist act and sang the "Theme from Ice Castles".

Following in Beth Van Zile's footsteps of last year, Joy also went on to compete in and win the Miss DeKalb Pageant.

Other candidates in the Miss Garrett Pageant were Cindy Bartels, sponsored by Garrett Chamber of Commerce; Beth

Unpredictable weather causes indecision

Unpredictable weather during the winter of 1982 and Garrett's reluctance to decide quickly whether or not to close school caused students many heart-aches.

Because radio stations were so slow to report school closings, students were seen forming ski caravans in order to get to school in blizzard conditions. After all, who wants to take the chance of missing a geometry test?

Radio stations were also sometimes wrong (much to the delight of students). Several were known to announce a two-hour delay. So while half of Garrett's students were busily occupied at school, the other half were home snug in their beds. These lay-a-beds were in for quite a surprise. When waking up two hours later they learned that school was not going to start as late as they thought. In spring, while Fort Wayne was drowning in its flood waters, Garrett students were getting out their lifeboats so they could catch the bus.

After a week of nearly perfect weather during spring break, students returned just one day before snow again cancelled school for the 14th day.

Railroader victory highlights homecoming

"Over the Rainbow" was chosen as the theme for the fall homecoming. Senior Wendy Maggert and Junior Pete Bowman were chosen king and queen. The juniors had a double victory with their class winning the best decorated car. Last year's King Greg Siples and Queen Laurie Pepple retired their honors during the halftime of the Garrett-Central Noble football game.

Wendy received six red roses and a silver crown from Laurie, and Pete was given a plaque by Greg.

The evening was brought to a close when the Railroaders defeated the Cougars by a score of 33-0. Garrett held the Cougars to only one first down and gave the Cougars only 57 total yards in rushing.

Student Council sponsored a dance in the Ober Auditorium following the game.

Homecoming court treated to exciting game

"Winter Sleigh Ride" was the theme for this year's basketball homecoming celebration.

Seniors Greg Bock and Lena Sorensen were crowned at halftime of the boys' varsity basketball game against West Noble.

Lena received the traditional crown and half dozen roses from boys' basketball co-captains Greg Siples and Steve Lepley. Greg was given a plaque by girls' co-captains Marsha Haffner and Angie Lehman.

King and Queen were seated in a sleigh located on the south side of the gym. Around the sleigh were seated members of the court consisting of Seniors Harold Kline, Chris McIntosh, Gerald Kline, Wendy Maggert; Juniors John Clauss and Jenney McPheeters; Sophomores Scott Mason and Patty Hile; Freshmen Tim Sparks and Deb Zerns.

The newly-crowned royalty and court were treated to an exciting third quarter as the Railroaders came out of the locker room to surge ahead of the Chargers after being tied at the half. However, in the end the Chargers triumphed, beating Garrett by a score of 41-38.

Freshman John Bodey led Garrett with 11 points. Sophomore Doug Kelham followed close on his heels with 10. Steve Lepley was top rebounder with eight.

Student Council sponsored the homecoming dance after the game. Music was provided by Steve Dembicke and his wife. Three girls and two boys received carnations and gift certificates from Grover's as door prizes. A special dance was dedicated to the new homecoming queen and king.

■ ■ ■ ■ in Activities

Participating in activities is beyond the realm of studies, yet it teaches us about becoming tomorrow's leaders. We are no longer shackled within the bounds of a grade book. We are becoming part of a fellowship, learning to acknowledge authority, thus realizing a sense of leadership with impending responsibility. Our pride shines through in our participation in activities.

Heidelberg feast ends year

German club, sponsored by Mr. Gary Surfus, joined forces with Spanish Club for the second annual Spanish-German Club party in the spring.

Each club contributed to the food, decorations, and entertainment. German club members David Koehl and Dave Relue did a skit mimicking Bob and Doug MacKenzie from the SCTV/Network 90 T.V. show. Refreshments were served at the end of the evening. They consisted of both German and Spanish snack foods.

The year opened with a traditional initiation party for all new club members. Initiates had to answer questions asked in German before being allowed to sign their names in the membership book. The highlight of the evening was the bubble-blowing contest, although no one was sure who won.

The club ended the year with a dinner at the Heidelberg, a German food restaurant in Huntington. At the Heidelberg members enjoyed German food and music. Everyone also participated in a snake dance which went through the restaurant.

The addition of foreign exchange student Silke Bodenbach added an extra highlight to the year. Silke is from Melle, Germany. Melle is located in the region of Niedersachsen, in the northwestern part of West Germany. Silke was able to describe German culture and lifestyles to Garrett students.

Spanish Club initiates wear garbage bags

Spanish Club opened the year with initiation of new members into the club. The ceremony commenced with the initiates wearing plastic garbage bags all day and culminated with a contest to see who could make the best pinata blindfolded.

The club also sponsored a junior high dance in J.E. Ober Auditorium. All club members pitched in to make this event a big success. Vice president Kim Penland DJ'ed the dance. A pinata raffle and refreshments were also featured.

Spanish Club again sold pinatas. The old forms of Mickey Mouse and a bee were used along with a new Tony the Tiger form. Time was spent activity periods, club meetings, and after school making these pinatas. A highlight was a pinata-making party after school.

For the second year in a row Spanish Club joined DeKalb High School's Spanish Club for a Christmas party. This festive occasion was punctuated with Spanish-English word games, the giving away of pinata door prizes, and the breaking of a large pinata filled with "goodies".

Another successful party was with the German Club. Food from both cultures was featured along with entertainment from both clubs.

The year ended with a traditional dinner at a Mexican restaurant in Fort Wayne. Members really enjoyed trying different Mexican dishes.

Council helps flood victims

Student Council began the year by sponsoring fall homecoming "Over the Rainbow," and continued their active schedule throughout the year.

Fifteen members of Student Council traveled to Muncie to attend the State Student Council Convention.

The annual "Burn the Baron" was a success despite drizzling rain and the theft of the fire wood.

Student Council honored the faculty, staff and administration during American Education Week. Members distributed donuts before school and handed out red apples during activity period. A large sheet cake was placed in both the high school and elementary teacher's lounge for the occasion.

Because of one extremely rainy week many people in DeKalb and Allen counties found themselves evacuated and homeless. A special canned good drive was sponsored by the Student Council in hope of giving some relief to the flood victims.

Student Council made a profit of $1500 to $2000 in candy sales, of which a large amount was donated to the year-book.

Sweetheart flowers were sold also.

FCA stages Easter egg hunt

Fellowship of Christian Athletes participated in many worthwhile activities this year.

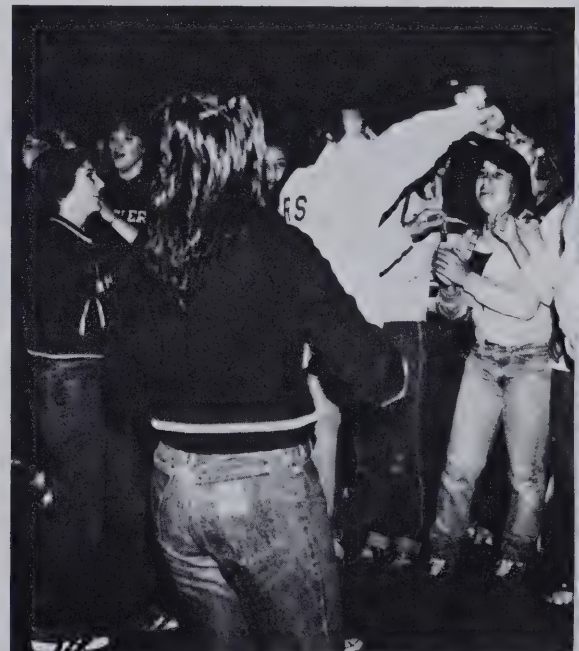

Club members worked hard at penny pitches during basketball games to raise money for the Christmas Bureau and the FCA overnigher. Money earned from a weightlifting contest and bike-a-thon was used to purchase a stereo for the locker room.

Donkey basketball tickets were sold by members for the Athletic Booster Club. The Booster Club annually uses money from this project to buy athletic equipment.

For "Burn the Baron", FCA helped Student Council by gathering all the wood needed for the traditional bonfire after the snake dance. A float consisting of a train underneath a rainbow was made for homecoming.

FCA also sponsored the annual Halloween eve hayride and an Easter egg hunt for the elementary special education class.

Railettes, Y-Teens complete busy year

Railettes, composed of 14 girls in grades ten through twelve, raised approximately $3,000 for the Athletic Department.

Their duties included selling concessions at football, basketball and baseball games, and taking admissions at other sports. They enjoyed a meal with Athletic Director John Hutton at Smuggler's Inn to end the year.

Y-Teens, an organization for girls in grades nine through twelve, initiated new members at the beginning of the school year. Other activities included a bake sale at the Garrett—DeKalb basketball game and a swimming party at the Fort Wayne YWCA.

Serving as officers were Lisa Molarigik, president; Tonya Harmon, Vice-president; Michelle Andrews, Secretary; and Joy Hixson, treasurer. Sponsor was Mrs. Meg Eastes.

Pep Club sponsors first dance marathon

Pep Club members—91 strong—gave the football and basketball teams cheering support throughout the year. This year the club sponsored its first annual dance-a-thon. Members took pledges or donations for the number of songs they danced to.

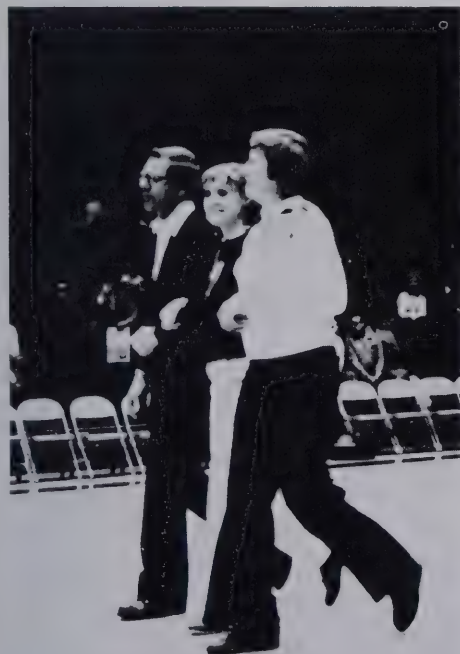

During the Garrett-Lakeland basketball game, Pep Club members escorted the varsity players' and cheerleaders' parents onto the floor for Parents' Night.

Leading the club were Beth Cattell, president; Jamie Shoudel, vice-president; Mary Ann Hile, secretary; Patti Kleber, treasurer; and Mrs. Deb Lepley, sponsor.

Deanna Wappes represents OEA at state

Office Education Association, consisting of 28 girls, began its 1981-82 year with installation of officers. Parents attended and refreshments were served by members. Twelve girls were initiated at a ceremony at Andrea Kelham's.

A cake walk was held to raise money during Garrett's Moonlight Madness. Members served breakfast to the varsity basketball team the morning of the DeKalb-Garrett game. Mr. Fred Sowles won a cake at the OEA raffle at the Garrett-West Noble game.

Placing in Regional OEA competition at South Side were Deanna Wappes in Typing and Related I—first place; Cindy Bartels in General Clerical II—sixth place; Cathy Hutton in Accounting II—fifth place. Deanna was eligible for State Convention in Indianapolis.

OEA Superstars was the big event of the year with sophomores being crowned champions. Best Looking Award went to seniors and Booby Prize was awarded to the business team.

Outstanding OEA members were recognized at the end of the year. Mr. Lester McCartney served as sponsor of a successful year.

OEA semi-formal gives 'Moonlight Ride'

OEA sponsored its annual fall semi-formal dance November 14 in the J.E. Ober Auditorium with a theme of "Moonlight Ride". All high school classes were invited to this fund-raising activity.

Music was provided by Craig Hutton, Nate Hoeffel and Ron Conrad. Wendy Maggert was crowned queen with all senior members of OEA filling her court. Votes were cast by all members of OEA.

All who attended enjoyed themselves and the music. Door prices were awarded and refreshments served.

Yearbook deficit wiped out

High point in the Aeolian staff's year was a $1500 contribution from Student Council. This contribution, along with an auction (nearly $700 profit) and other fund-raising projects allowed the Aeolian staff to wipe out a $2000 deficit from previous years and end the year with a $500 to $1000 balance.

A staff of nearly 35 students assisted in fund-raising activities and selling yearbook subscriptions and ads; however, only a small group of students actually produced the 1982 Aeolian. Those who contributed time and talent outside of school hours toward production of the yearbook were Andrea Kelham, Jeanette Hunter, Lena Sorensen, Diane Morr, Ed Jarrett, Anisa Hazeltine, Molly Wappes, Dave Koehl, Ingrid Taube, Dave Relue, Shelly Dunham, Theresa Lantz, and Dena Snider.

Mrs. Bonnie Miles, Aeolian advisor, also contributed a great amount of time and effort in supervising all phases of yearbook production.

Gift of light table saves time, trouble

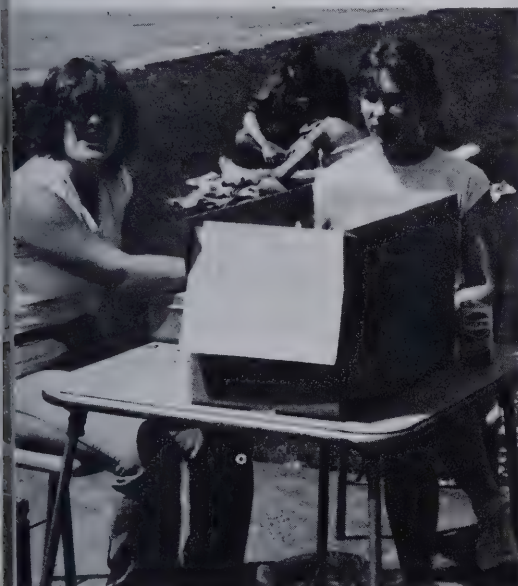

Work of the 1981-82 Signal staff was made easier and less time-consuming by the generous gift of a light table from Mrs. Henning Sorensen. A light table is used in the layout process for each page of the Signal.

This year the Signal fell victim to "snow days"; the harsh weather that canceled school also canceled the January issue, bringing the total issues published to eight.

Signal staff combined with the Aeolian staff to raise money this year. Projects included a chili supper and the sale of a cleaning soap and Lifesaver lollipops.

The two staffs also co-sponsored a "Last Chance Dance" May 1. It was the last non-formal dance of the year.

Besides putting out a paper each month, the Signal staff helped with many of the tedious tasks for the Aeolian such as preparing the student card file, organizing underclass picture pages, typing subscription lists, and distributing underclass picture packets.

Thespian troupe honors new director

Members of the GHS Thespian troupe produced the all-school play, "The Crucible," by Arthur Miller. "This drama was not the light fare Garrett is accustomed to seeing; however, it went over well in the community," commented director Jerry Grayson. The set of "The Crucible" was noticeably different, consisting of a solid black background and a few props. This type of setting focused all attention on the action of the play, not the scenery.

Awards were given to deserving Thespians at an awards dinner at Pizza Hut in Auburn as follows: Jennifer Ferry and Joy Hixson, best Thespians; Mike Brandt, best actor; Jennifer Ferry, best actress; Frank Weller, best supporting actor; Kim Penland, best supporting actress; Jeff Jackson, best technician; Mr. Grayson, "Best Darn Director We've Seen in Awhile" award. "We were very lucky to have a director who cared about and worked for a quality production," remarked Jennifer Ferry, troupe president. "He wouldn't let us stop until we had done our best."

Club sponsors annual exhibit, fund raisers

Art Club members participated in many activities during the year. Members decorated a Christmas tree at a Christmas dance they sponsored. They also sold Christmas tree ornaments made by club members.

Other fund-raising activities included sponsoring a junior high dance, selling lemonade during Little 500, and having a bake sale every Monday in May.

At the annual art show Rachel Warstler won the "Best of Show" award of $75. Other prizes included ribbons, canvas boards, acrylic paints, and drawing pencils.

FHA rollerskates, enjoys pizza

Future Homemakers of America had a hard time getting started because of low membership. Despite this, they baked cookies for the teachers at Christmas. Also during the year they went rollerskating and had a pizza party at Godfather's in Fort Wayne.

Officers were Trisha Sechler, president; Lora Woods, vice-president; and Deanna Kappel, secretary/treasurer.

Future Farmers of America 1981-82 officers attended leadership camp in Trafalgar, Indiana, during July. This camp was a learning experience during which officers polished their leadership skills.

The annual FFA banquet was held in November. Awards to the judging team, area farmers, and those members moving up a year in FFA were distributed.

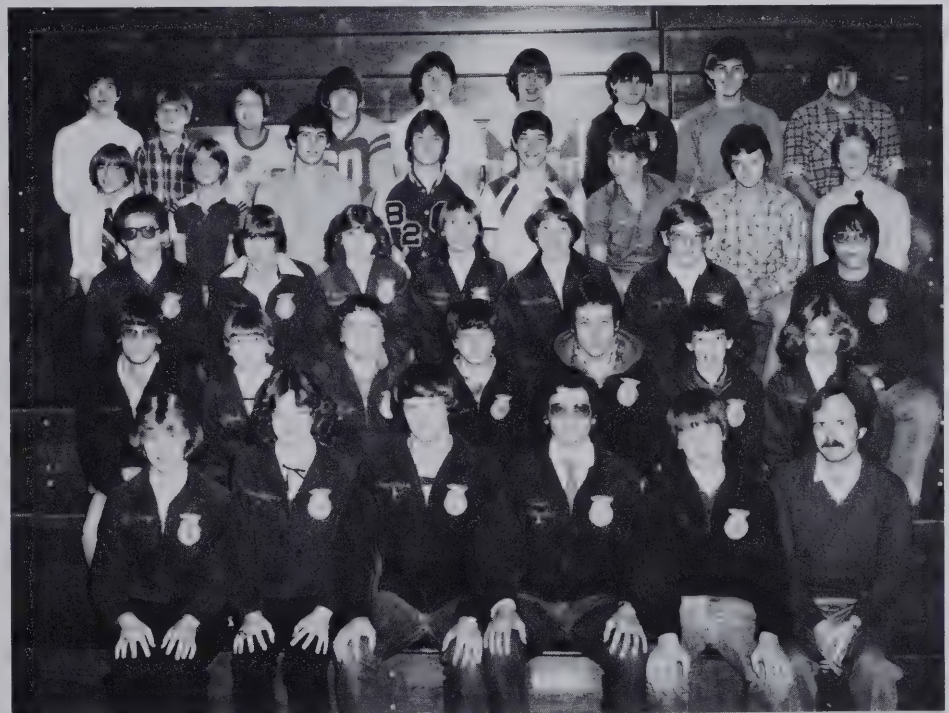

Selling seeds and cutting firewood were the biggest money makers.

The FFA district convention was held in March. Terry Yarde won first place in both dairy and livestock proficiencies. Doug Holbrook won fifth in diversified livestock and Steve Bade also won fifth in chicken production.

Judging teams had a great deal of success. The livestock team won the area contest and advanced to the state finals. The dairy team won county honors and advanced to area competition.

Officers were Terry Yarde, president; Linda Haynes, vice-president; Dean Hatton, secretary; Jean Lange, treasurer; Glen Malcolm, sentinel; and Kevin Thrush, reporter.

Pom Squad entertains GHS sports fans

Garrett Sidetrackers Pom Squad began the season by receiving a superior rating on home routine at Pom camp. They participated in the Garrett Days Parade and also in the DeKalb County Fair Parade in Auburn. They performed many different routines at both football and basketball games during halftime to entertain the crowd. Some of the routines which were performed were "Celebration," "Walk Right Now," "Believe It or Not," and "Go West." At the last home basketball game the senior girls performed "Loralee."

Pom Pon Camp was sponsored for fourth, fifth and sixth graders and seventh and eighth graders to get the younger girls interested in Pom Pons. To raise money for uniforms and supplies, the girls conducted cake raffles during basketball and football games.

Beth Vanderbosch served as captain of the squad while Della Surface was co-captain. Their sponsor was Mrs. Becky Derrow.

Cheerleaders raise funds for uniforms

GHS Cheerleaders were involved in several activities in conjunction with the football and basketball teams.

In the fall they sponsored a chili supper, a pep session before the DeKalb game, and a dance after the first game of the year. They cheered at the snake dance before the annual Baron match also. During basketball season they sponsored a dessert supper at the soap game. After the last game of the season, they had a dinner at the Pizza Hut, and on March 10 they treated the basketball team to a dinner at Shippy's Steak House.

At a competition in Oxford, Ohio, the cheerleaders received a blue ribbon for a superior rating. More than 400 cheerleaders participated in the event.

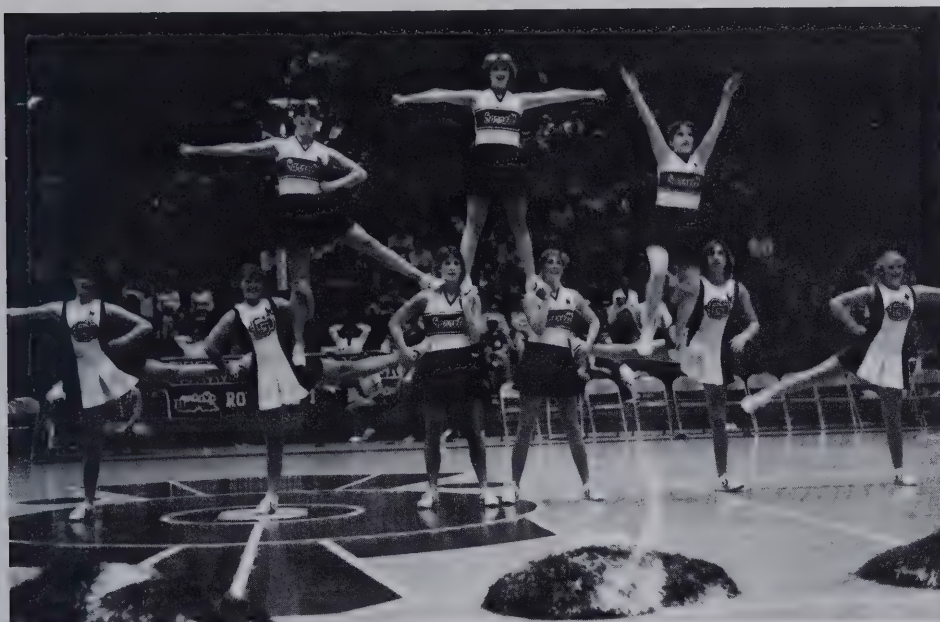

After the cheering season was over, they sold suntan lotion to raise money for the IU-UCA Cheerleading Camp July 26-29. With money from other projects they were able to buy new uniforms.

NHS awards scholarships to 2 members

First activity of senior National Honor Society was the installation of officers. Serving the 1981-82 year were Jennifer Ferry, president; Marsha Haffner, vice-president; Diane Morr, secretary; Michelle Johnson, treasurer. Miss Sarah Jean Eldridge served as sponsor.

Induction of new members took place October 21 in the J.E. Ober Auditorium. Alpha Rho Chapter, Psi Iota Xi, sponsors the chapter by paying for pins and serving refreshments to members and guests.

The annual money-making project of selling M & M candy was a success. Because this project has traditionally been a good fund-raiser, chapter members decided they could afford to present $200 scholarships to two senior members of the chapter. A committee drew up guidelines and designated a selection committee. The scholarships were presented at Senior Awards Night to Lena Sorensen and Scott Wilcoxson.

Since Head Start has had two sessions a day, NHS has given a Christmas party for both groups. Parties this year featured gifts, games, refreshments, and a visit by Santa Claus.

During March the annual Teachers' Appreciation Breakfast was served. This year NHS also sponsored a hot dog booth for the Little 500.

Parties were conducted in the spring by NHS members for special education students in both the elementary and high school buildings.

JH Council, Honor Society keep busy

Leading the junior high Student Council were Paula McFann, president; C.J. Stoltie, vice-president; Scot Blust, treasurer; Doreen Zolman, secretary; Mr. Ron Reeves and Mrs. Suzon Baker, sponsors.

Among their projects were a sweat-shirt sale, which was very successful, a Little 500 refreshment booth, and a combined junior-senior high Student Council candy sale. The group assisted the high school Student Council in "Teachers' Day" activities.

Highlight of the year for the junior high Honor Society was initiation of new members April 27. Four eighth grade and eight seventh grade students were inducted in an impressive candlelight ceremony. The membership pledge was led by Superintendent Kermit Weddell. Refreshments and membership pins were provided by Psi Iota Xi Sorority. New members were required to take an apple to each of their teachers as part of initiation.

Serving as officers were John Grogg, president; Jana Kelham, secretary; Brian Getts, treasurer; Mrs. Suzon Baker, chapter advisor.

Science, Drama Clubs develop talents

Junior high Science Club, working with Mr. Jim Hecksel, held meetings to discuss projects students had worked on at home. Members suggested activities they would like to do, did many experiments, and worked on engines and electronic projects.

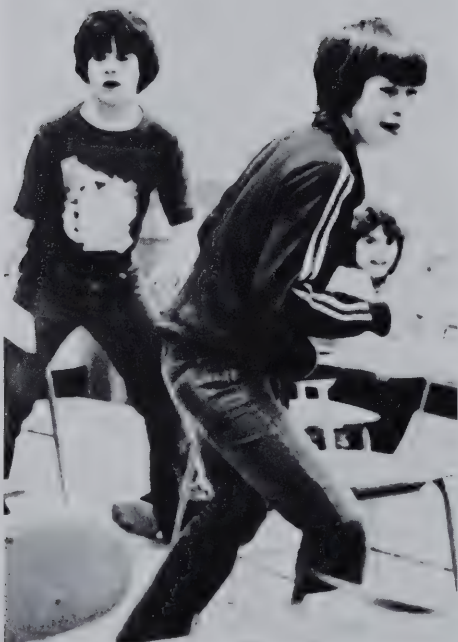

Junior high Drama Club's major activity was to produce the annual junior high play. In October they presented an adaptation of O. Henry's romping comedy, "The Ransom of Red Chief." Junior high students were involved in all aspects of theater production, including acting, set construction, make-up, lighting, costuming, and running crews.

The play was well received by both students and the community at large. For many students, it was their first taste of the theater world. Mr. Jerry Grayson, Drama Club sponsor, said, "It was obvious from their enthusiasm that many students caught 'the theater bug' and that we can look forward to seeing them on stage again and again."

JH Spirit, Express have productive year

Under the leadership of Mrs. Vickie Short, junior high Spirit Club's 40 members established a new constitution. A new point system was developed for game attendance. Club members also purchased shirts to show their spirit.

Students decorated players' lockers for home basketball and football games. They supported the cheerleaders and teams with spirited cheers. Officers were Kathy Hixson, president; Michelle Estes, vice-president; Ann Weller, secretary-treasurer.

Junior high newspaper—J.H. Express—was published by a staff of eighth graders and their advisor, Mrs. Beth Grogg.

The last issue contained eighth grade wills, likes and dislikes about junior high, and awards to special students.

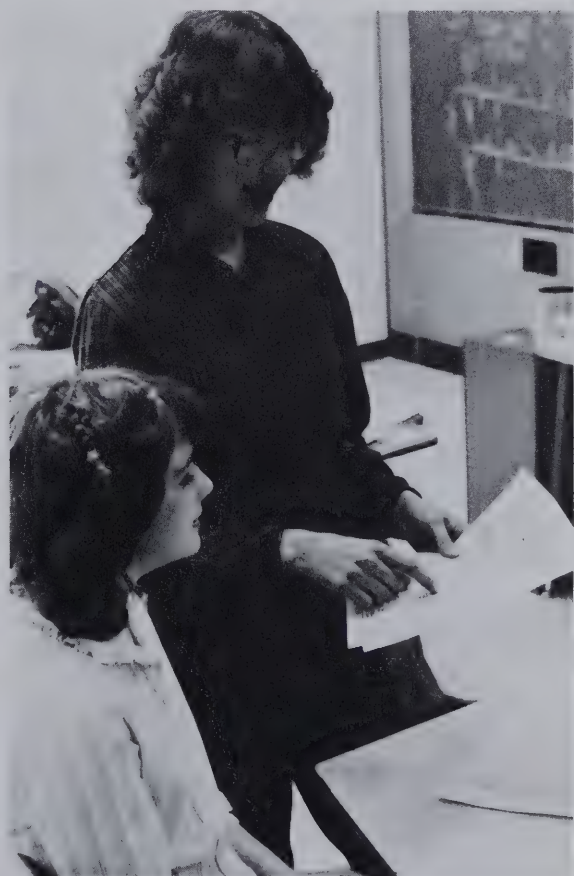

Staff members conducted polls, recorded sports activities, and learned how to set up stories for publication.

..... in Competition

Always the most readily visible picture of school pride is found in athletic competition. No matter what the sport, athletes have pride in themselves, their school, and their community. Athletes carry the pride of GHS to wherever they play. Our pride is showing in competition.

Cross country has best season since 1977

GHS cross country team had its best season since 1977. Rick Abbott, Tom Ferguson, and Pete Bowman were co-captains of the team that went 6-8. Pete Bowman set a new school record of 16:24 against Angola and Churubusco. In the same meet John Bodey set a new freshman record of 16:50. "We made giant steps in the last two years," said Coach Novy, "but we still have a long way to go."

The squad participated in invitationals at Churubusco, South Side, and West Noble. They finished 10th of 13 at Churubusco, 11th of 22 at West Noble and fourth of eight at South Side.

Individual best times were Tom Ferguson, 17:27; Mark Jackson, 17:38; Trey Lantz, 18:10; Rick Abbott, 18:14; Keith Walter, 19:02; Ken Walter, 19:20; and Steve Bwman, 19:37.

"Looking back over our cross country season, I have to say that we really improved as a team and as individuals," said co-captain Pete Bowman. "There was a time for fun and a time for work. We got serious when it was time to run, giving it our best effort with a goal in mind."

Grid season disappoints Railroaders, fans

Had the right thing happened at the right time, this year's varsity football record just might have been 8-2 instead of 4-6. "It was a very interesting season," said Coach John Hutton. "I was disappointed in the fact that we lost the close games. I was also disappointed in my ability to get the team up for the next game after a victory."

Some examples of the season follow:

—The season opener against East Noble. In the second overtime Joe Chisholm's try at the two-point conversion fell inches short.

—Games against Bluffton and Leo. Final score of each game was 7-0.

—Week 6 against state-ranked West Noble. The Railroaders had two touchdowns called back and a last second field goal fall only inches wide.

—DeKalb game in which the Railroaders cut the lead to 13-12 in the last five minutes, but Baron Steve Peterson's 51-yard run put the final points on the board.

Seniors Greg Bock and Mark Hensinger were named to the Evening Star News-Sun All-Area first team and honorable mention on the Journal Gazette All-Area and Associated Press All-State teams. Hensinger was also named team Most Valuable Player.

Hensinger led the team in rushing with 611 yards. Bock was the leading receiver catching 10 passes for 110 yards. John Clauss was second in both classes with 443 yards rushing and nine catches for 64 yards.

ALL ABOARD THE GARRETT EXPRESS

Reserves win 5 of 8 games

The reserve football team lived up to expectations this year. Their 5-3 record was one of the better seasons in recent years. "This season was very successful," said Coach Richard Boyd. "The idea of the reserves is to prepare for varsity play, and the sophomores and juniors got the experience."

Stuart Anderson was cited as most improved player over the season and as an example of the team's improvement. "Once Stuart found out he could play his position, he improved," said Coach Boyd.

The outlook looks very bright. "The success they enjoyed this year should carry over to the varsity," remarked Coach Boyd.

14 freshman gridgers face difficult year

Freshman football team had a very difficult year. They were often overpowered, undersized and often outplayed. "It was very hard even to practice," said Coach Tom Pegelow. "We had only 14 people out, but we did well."

The season had several bright spots. A victory over Churubusco, several fine defensive plays and the running of Tim Sparks provided exciting moments for fans. Although small in size, this team is expected to help the varsity in the future.

8th grade improves throughout season

Although it wasn't a successful season, record-wise, the eighth grade football team enjoyed a successful season of improvement. "There was an example of improvement in the offensive line," said Coach Jim Hecksel. "They started to go out and just plain block more."

John Grogg and Shane DeMarco provided excitement as outstanding running backs. In the game against Kendallville, the gridders appeared down and out, but made a strong comeback, only to lose the game in the final quarter. "I enjoyed working with them, but there were times when they quit on themselves," said Coach Hecksel.

The future looks even brighter. "If this group stays out, they could have successful varsity seasons."

7th grade dedication brings 3-3 record

Hard work and dedication marked the first taste of interscholastic competition for the seventh grade football team. Their work resulted in a 3-3 season. "It was team improvement," said Coach Jim Hecksel.

The future looks bright for this team. "They have the potential to do well, if they keep working at it," said Coach Hecksel. "It was a learning year and they enjoyed success."

Optimism highlights year

"It was a tough season," said Varsity Basketball Coach Denny Feagler. "As the year progressed each player improved."

These words of optimism came after one of the worst seasons in GHS basketball history. In compiling a dismal 1-19 record, the Railroaders enjoyed their only taste of victory in the season opener at Central Noble.

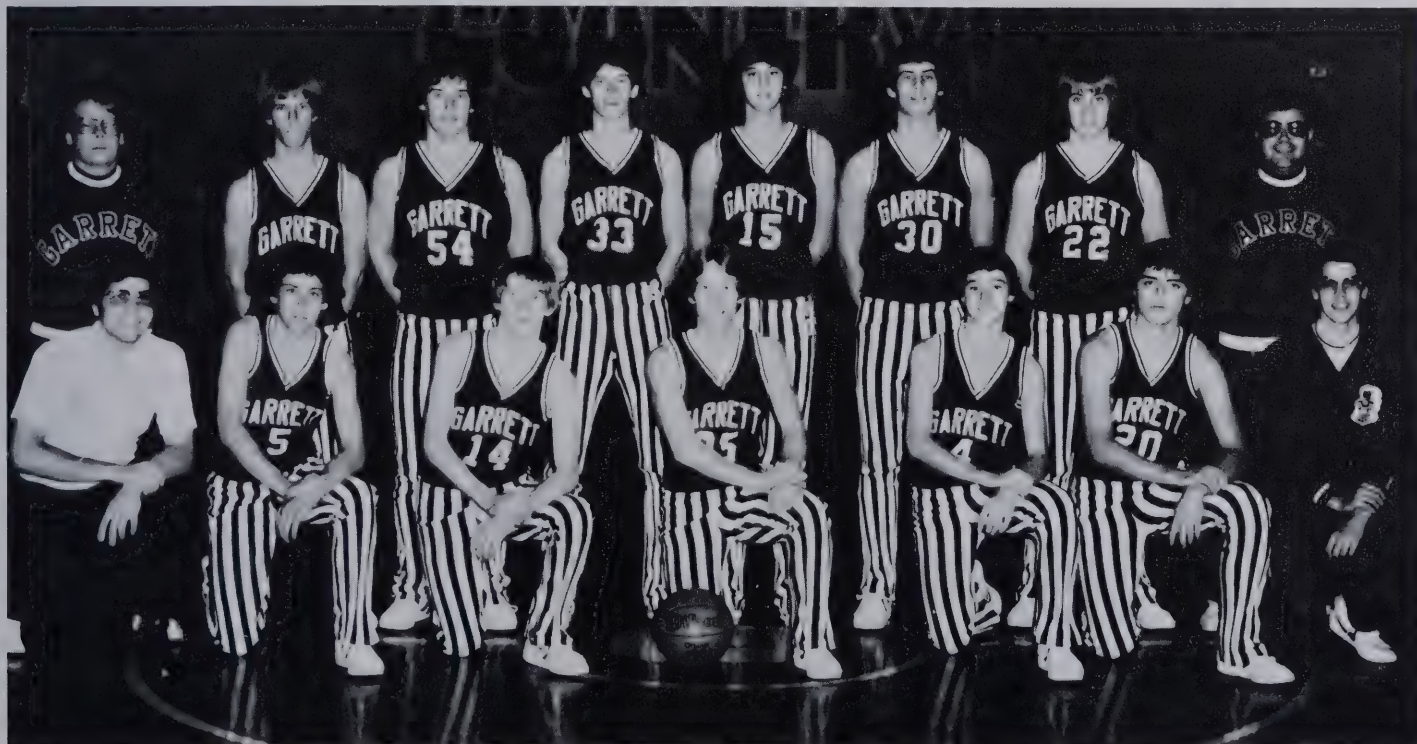

There were several bright spots throughout the year. Todd Perry was cited as the most improved player on the squad. Freshman John Bodey led the team in total points (188), scoring average (9.4), and free throw percentage (75%). Sophomore Doug Shippy had team-leading statistics of 18 steals and 43 assists. Perry led the varsity with 44% shooting from the field. Senior Steve Lepley garnered 106 rebounds for team honors in that category.

"It was a year filled with learning situations. We had a lot of young players; even the seniors were young experience-wise," said Coach Feagler.

Reserves earn late success

Reserve basketball team applied the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." They opened very slowly, but closed strongly winning three of their last four games. "Even though they didn't win early, the team continued to work hard, both in practice and games," said Coach Steve Stocker.

Junior Troy Dickerson was the leader in total points (127), steals (23), and assists (28). Sophomore Doug Kelham nailed 76% of his free throw attempts. Bob DeWitt led the squad in field goal percentage by making 36% of his shots drop. Wesley Warstler hauled in 103 rebounds for team leadership in that department.

"This team proved the equation—hard work + perseverance = success," said Coach Stocker.

Frosh squads improve by taking lumps

"We improved over the course of the season, but the teams we played improved too," said Coach Joe Mahnesmith. "Most of us were inexperienced, but we improved by taking our lumps, which we did each game."

Craig Claxton led the "A" team in total points by tallying 101. Jeff Perry cleaned the glass 63 times for rebounding leadership. Ken Goldie was the team leader in free throw percentage by dropping in 67% of his free tosses. Gary Freed drilled 43% of his field goal attempts.

Pat Martin led the "B" team in point average (5.5), free throw and field goal percentage (50 and 42% respectively). Ken Goldie retrieved 25 rebounds, while Mark Jackson led the squad in total points (19).

Eighth grade improves last year's skills

Eighth grade boys' basketball team closed the season with 6 wins and 8 losses. According to Coach Ron Weimer, this was an improvement in the boys' abilities because the same team playing seventh grade basketball last year didn't win a single game.

Even though they lost the game against the Woodlan Warriors, Coach Weimer feels that it was in this game that the young Railroaders did their best. The closest scoring game was against Eastside when Garrett edged the Eagles 36-35.

Greg Vepel led the team in scoring with 165, followed by Tim Vogel with 97. Gary Haynes combined his height and timing to lead the squad with re-bounds.

Winning 7th graders enjoyable to coach

Success was the key word for the seventh grade boys' basketball team.

Their 8-7 record was one of the best in recent years. Not only did they have a winning season, they had fun doing it. "I hope they're as enjoyable to work with the next five years as they were the first year," said Coach Robert Novy.

David Boltz led the team with 148 total points. Todd Warstler canned 100% of his free throw attempts. Craig Smurr and Brian Bowman were cited as most improved players by Coach Novy because both boys increased their confidence and aggressiveness during the season.

Inexperienced Lady Railroaders go 6-12

Last year it was a regional title. This year it was a 6-12 season. The loss of key personnel, combined with a team with little experience made a big difference. "It was a year of learning game situations and fundamentals," said Coach Rocky Pressler.

Renee Winans led the Garrett team with 141 total points and 158 rebounds. Laura Grotrian was the leader in field goal percentage, hitting 34% of her attempts. Melanie Lyon was the free throw percentage leader, canning 61% of her charity tosses. Angie Lehman led the squad with a total of 65 steals while Marsha Haffner dished out a team-leading 35 assists.

Laura Grotrian set freshman records with 96 total points and 131 rebounds. Marsha Haffner is the new career record holder in steals, having compiled 91 in her career.

Co-captains Marsha Haffner and Angie Lehman shared the Most Valuable Player Award. Angie was also named to the Evening Star News-Sun honorable mention squad along with Laura Grotrian and Melanie Lyon. Melanie and Laura also won All-Conference honorable mention honors.

Reserve girls start, end season in style

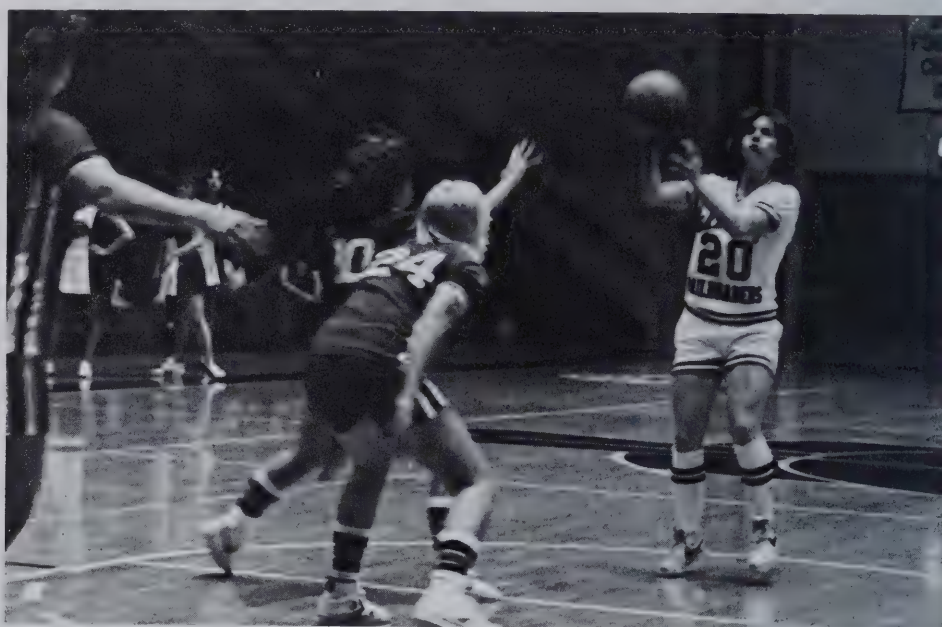

Garrett girls' reserve basketball team began the 1981-82 season by winning three games in a row. In the next six games they just couldn't get it together and lost them all. Not to be disheartened, they finished the season in style, winning three of the final four contests.

The squad was under the new coaching of Miss Karen Dircksen, a 1979 Garrett graduate. She brought with her "advanced playing experience and knowledge," having started for Garrett at the point guard position for three years and having played two years at I.U.P.U. at Fort Wayne.

Eleven reserve players combined efforts to win six of 14 games. Ingrid Taube led in scoring with 58 total points. She also made 59% of free throws attempted. Julie Reynolds had top field goal average with 26%, and Anita Lehman led the team with 36 steals and 16 assists.

Seventh grade girls' basketball players lacked the knowledge of rules and fundamentals at the start of the season, according to Coach Rocky Pressler. "However, after getting a few games under their belts they started to make great strides forward."

Julie DePew pulled down 96 rebounds, stole the ball 26 times, hit 75 shots, and nine free throws to lead the team in all four of these areas. Joann Grogg led in assists with four.

Eighth grade team combined quickness, rebounding strength, and scoring punch to compile a 6-4 season record.

Holly Cauffman led the team in total points with 120. She also made 10 free throws and pulled down 114 rebounds to lead the squad. Marilyn Cook led the team with 15 assists and 40 steals.

Varsity's record, fundamentals improve

Varsity volleyball team statistics improved for a second consecutive season and those improvements brought two more victories than the previous year. Angie Lehman and Renee Winans earned most improved player honors for the squad.

Sets improved to 96%, blocks increased to 96%, bumps increased to 88%, and spikes rose to 86%. The squad also made 62% of attempted saves, 79% of attempted serves, and 79% of dinks. Individual leaders in each category were bumps, Marsha Haffner and Angie Lehman; sets, Susie Getts and Ann Schendel; blocks, Shelly Beber and Leigh Ann Chisholm, Angie Lehman and Linda Shull; saves, Leigh Ann Chisholm; serves, Chisholm and Jane Dircksen; spikes, Dircksen and Renee Winans; and dinks, Susie Getts.

"Overall it was a successful season," stated Coach Cheryl Peters. "We improved our record and had a more consistent team. Statistically we improved in the fundamentals."

Reserves show determination

Through a lot of hard work and determination, the reserve volleyball team reversed its record by finishing the season with 7 wins and 5 defeats. "They had a good attitude and showed a lot of poise."

Overall statistics were excellent for any volleyball team. The squad completed 91 percent of sets and blocks, 81 percent of bumps, 77 percent of serves, 76 percent of dinks, 72 percent of spikes, and 56 percent of saves. Deb Bush, Rosie Sheehan, Julie Reynolds and Jeannie Brown executed 100 percent of sets, while Melinda McFann, Lesli Dickerson, Sheehan, and Brown completed all of their opportunities in blocks. Sue Helbert was the team leader in bumps, converting 89 percent of her opportunities, and McFann had the best serving percentage.

Maley works hard, reaches semi-state

It was a historic event in GHS wrestling history. Senior Matt Maley became the first wrestler to reach the semi-state level of competition. "Matt reached the semi-state due to lots of hard work during the off-season," said Coach Willie Wellhausen.

Co-captains Matt Maley and Rick Abbott had records of 17-6 and 18-6, respectively. Abbott placed on the All-Conference team. Maley was an Evening Star All Area Choice. Maley set school records in first takedowns (18), takedowns (37), and victories (18). Abbott set a precedent in superior decisions with three. Junior Lonnie Lanning established a new record of 29 reversals.

"I thought we did a good job in spite of the fact we couldn't fill all the weight classes," remarked Coach Wellhausen.

The reserve wrestling team started big. As the season progressed, several people quit or succumbed to injury. In the end, only two minor letters were awarded. "As far as records go, we were successful," said Coach Tom Pegelow of his team's 6-4-1 record.

Damon Lewis and Todd Gorman were the only two minor letter earners for the season. "The program, as a whole, was very unsuccessful because we ended up with only two people," commented Coach Pegelow.

Junior high wrestlers finish with 5-4 season record

Junior high wrestlers finished their season with a 5-4 record. They participated in the Central Noble tournament placing fifth. Rich Wisel and David Boltz both received first place ratings in the tourney. Churubusco placed first in the tournament; however, Garrett beat them 48-46 during the season.

Outstanding seventh grade wrestler was Rich Wisel who finished the season undefeated. The outstanding eighth grader was Troy High. Tom Rodman, also an eighth grader, was most improved junior high wrestler.

Coach Jim Hecksel said, "The team really improved toward the end of the season, and I am really looking forward to next year because a majority of the wrestlers were seventh graders."

Boys' track squad sets, ties 10 records

In spite of a 4-7 record, the boys' track team had a successful season. Senior Phil Tschebykin earned his way to the regional in the 100-meter high hurdles. "We had a lot of individual success," said Coach Willie Wellhausen. "The kids ran up to potential."

Their potential meant setting or tying 10 records. Phil Tschebykin set new records in the 100-meter high hurdles and the 300-meter low hurdles. Matt Maley lowered the standard in the 400-meter dash while Eric Mossberger set a new mark in the 800-meter run. Pete Bowman set new school records in the 1600 and 3200-meter runs while John Bodey set new school freshman marks in the same races. The 1600-meter relay team of Maley, Mossberger, Tschebykin and Ed Teller established a new record. The 400-meter relay team of Stuart Anderson, Craig Lepard, Brad Babbitt and Tom Cole tied the school record in that race.

"With all these records, it was a fun year," said Coach Wellhausen.

14-1 season ends as Lehman goes to state

Sophomore Anita Lehman became the first female athlete from Garrett High School to reach the state finals. "Being a participant in the state meet is one of the biggest goals any athlete can achieve," said Coach Cheryl Peters. Anita finished eighth in the low hurdles at state with a time of 14.86. This was the fastest time of her career breaking her old school record of 14.9 set in the regional and state trials.

Anita was not alone in outstanding achievements. The varsity squad had a fine 14-1 season while the reserves posted their second straight undefeated season at 12-0. Anita set new records in the 100-meter hurdles and the long jump and combined with teammates Susie Getts, Larkin Hunter, and Kathy Putt to establish a new 800-meter relay record. Susie Getts established new precedents in the high jump and 400-meter dash. Larkin Hunter set a new 100-meter dash record, while Melanie Lyon reestablished the discus record. The 1600-meter relay team of Rosie Sheehan, Rita Wilcoxson, Sandy Sparks and Andrea Stoltie put together another record.

"They really worked hard," said Coach Peters, "We had a good season. I think enthusiasm for track has picked up."

JH boys display strong potential in track

Junior high boys' track teams had a winning season. Seventh grade posted a 2-2 mark while eighth graders tallied three victories against one defeat. The two teams combined for a 2-2 record.

Eighth graders Mike Mosley and Sean Ferry set junior high records. Ferry vaulted 9 feet, 10 inches in the pole vault while Mosley heaved the discus 139 feet, 7 inches. David Boltz set a new seventh grade record in the long jump—16 feet, 10 ½ inches.

Streaks characterize 13-14 baseball season

It was a season of streaks and surprises. Varsity baseball squad put together winning streaks of six and four victories but also had two losing streaks of four games and one three-game streak of defeats. "We just played in streaks," said Coach Steve Stocker.

Junior John Clauss and sophomore Doug Shippy provided two surprises during the season. Shippy surprised enough people to earn All-Conference honorable mention while Clauss came through as leader in runs batted in and runs scored. Clauss and senior Mark Hensinger earned first team All-Conference honors. Darren Peters and Nick German came through as steady players.

Mark Hensinger was the leading hitter with a .390 average and four home runs. Dave Nuttle tallied a 5-3 record on the mound to earn top pitching honors.

A dismal 1-9 record by the reserve baseball team can be attributed in part to inadequate practice time. Reserve coach Tom Pegelow was unable to conduct regular practices because good weather resulted in a steady schedule of varsity games at which he performed assistant coaching duties.

7 win varsity golf letters in 7-9 season

The 1982 golf season was a very interesting one. For the first time, seven varsity letters were presented. Team scores varied from a fine 153 to a dismal 196. When all was said and done, the varsity had posted a 7-9 record while the reserves had a winning 7-6 mark.

Junior Mark Bowmar posted the lowest season average, 40.9. Mark also fired a one over par 35 against Hamilton. Rick Johnston shot the season's low score, an even par 34 against DeKalb.

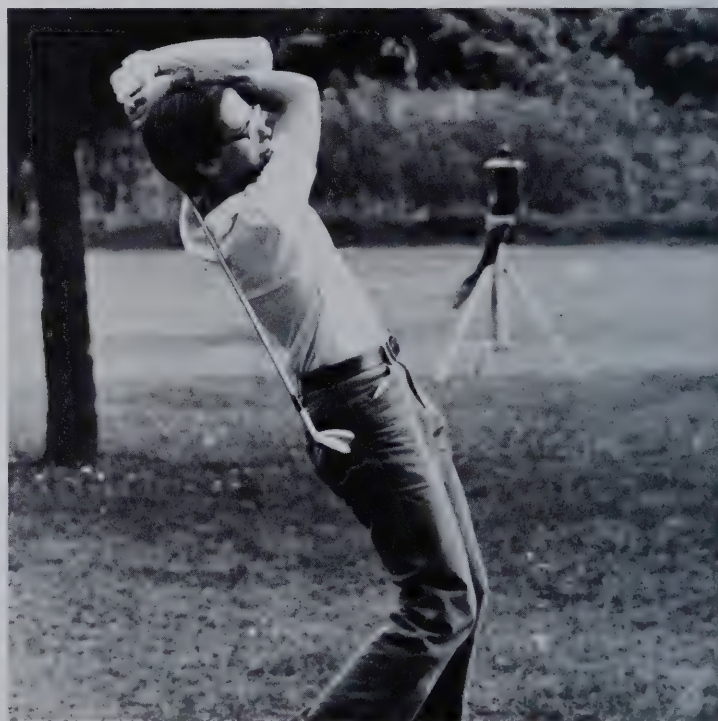

The reserves had several nights when they closed in on the varsity. They actually beat the varsity score at Foster Park against South Side. It was difficult to choose a team leader because of the number of golfers who played varsity over the course of the season.

■ ■ in Academics & Staff

Drag yourself to first-period class. Locate your seat, which challenges you to find a comfortable spot in its hard confines. Fifty-five minutes and then you do it all over again with a different instructor. It's the routine called academics. But because school would be meaningless without classes and teachers, we give it our best shot, letting our pride show in academics.

Vocational department adopts new texts

A time-consuming activity for vocational department teachers this year was the selection of new textbooks for the next five years. Over a three-month period teachers, assisted by parents of students, adopted new textbooks for all vocational classes.

Major expenditures by the department were for new equipment for the agriculture shop, namely, a table saw, band saw, welder, and drill press.

A new face in the vocational department was that of Mrs. Mary Lou Trainer, who taught in the home economics area first semester for Mrs. Barbara Olin, who was on leave of absence. Vocational area supervisor is Mrs. Victoria Short.

Instructors and students in vocational classes combined efforts to design, build, decorate, and landscape Garrett High School's seventh building trades home, a one-story ranch style in Woodview Estates. Practical experience through this project and other similar ones prepared vocational students for the world of work.

Math department acquires third computer

Math department, under the leadership of Mr. Richard Capin, expanded its offerings this year. The addition of an adult evening class, Introduction to Computers, kept most of the teachers working either as instructors or as students taking the course. A third computer was acquired through an anonymous gift to the school at the beginning of the year. Plans to assemble a computer headquarters in the media center were in the making as the year ended.

Students had a variety of math courses to choose from. Practical math, algebra, and geometry (for those who took first-year algebra as eighth graders) were choices for freshmen. Sophomores and juniors studied geometry and advanced algebra. Seniors worked to pass trigonometry, analytic geometry, and computer courses.

Special ed students move, adjust to GHS atmosphere

A new group of special education students made the transfer here from Wee Haven School-Workshop in fine style. They blended right into the the atmosphere and learned to study hard. In addition to the move, these students competed in several Special Olympics events and brought home many ribbons. Miss Nancy Myers, who was assisted by Mrs. Sidney Zerns, teacher aide, taught these GHS newcomers.

High school special education classes were taught by Mrs. Vickie Short, and Mrs. Julia Yates was instructor for junior high special education students.

Mrs. Rosemary McConnell directed the vocational special education program, and Mrs. Deb Lepley worked with vocationally disadvantaged students. Miss Lenore Lewis is area supervisor for special education.

Department purchases novels, dictionaries

Ten teachers serve in the language arts area, making it the largest department at Garrett High School. Mr. Jerry Grayson is the only new member of the language arts faculty. Mrs. Bonnie Miles is department chairperson.

This department purchased several sets of novels for required reading in English classes and added junior high level dictionaries in two classrooms to begin the year.

Visits to Channel 21 TV and Fort Wayne Public Library were among the field trips taken by English classes. Advanced German and Spanish students conducted mini-courses in their languages for selected primary classes in J.E. Ober Elementary School.

Business courses attract many students

A full range of typing, shorthand, accounting and office practice courses attracted large numbers of students planning to seek immediate employment as well as those intending to continue their studies at a university or business college.

Mr. Larry Stomm, department head, taught Accounting I, advanced accounting, business law, and general business. Teaching shorthand, notehand, Typing I, advanced typing, and personal typing was Miss Sarah Jean Eldridge. Courses taught by Mr. Lester McCartney included vocational business lab, office practice, and four sections of business machines. Typing was introduced to eighth graders in the rotation program by Miss Lenore Lewis.

Field trips and class visitors provided breaks in the normal routine for business students. Business lab visited the Garrett Clipper to see a business in action and received a visit by a representative of International Business College. Business law students attended a trial at the courthouse in Auburn.

Social studies classes watch taped shows

Social studies classes made use of the school's videotape equipment several times during the school year. "FDR" and "Inside the Third Reich" were among the historical TV features shown to social studies students throughout the year.

Social studies department offered world history and current issues, primarily for freshmen and sophomores. Juniors were required to take U.S. history, while seniors chose two classes from the following: government, economics, psychology and sociology.

The five-member social studies faculty is headed by Mr. Rocky Pressler.

Public sees work of fine arts classes

Again this year public performances, contests, and exhibits were the end result of classroom work by fine arts students and instructors.

Choral music classes were taught by Miss Margaret Buttermore, who also served as fine arts department chairperson and director of all junior high and high school choirs. Mr. David Silden was instrumental music instructor and directed the junior high band and high school marching and concert bands.

Mr. Mark Ober's art students completed a wide variety of drawings, oil and watercolor paintings, and ceramic, pottery, and sculptured pieces, many of which were displayed at the Art Club exhibit in May.

Science classes receive equipment, books

Science department, under the supervision of Mr. Cleo Miller, purchased new equipment for the school year, mostly for junior high classes. Major purchases included new prisms, optic kits, and pulleys.

In addition, a new series of textbooks was adopted for all science classes which enabled students to attempt labs that had not been done in previous years. Labs included more dissections, to the dismay and/or nausea of many students. Biology classes not only dissected the traditional frogs and worms, but added grasshoppers and fish to the list.

Also, there were different activities and more labs in the mechanical and physics areas.

P.E., health students strive for fitness

Students learned about mental emotional and physical well-being in health classes and worked toward developing physical fitness in gym classes.

Self-concept was a topic investigated by students in Mr. Pegelow's and Mr. Boyd's health classes. These classes were taught for six weeks by Miss Jackie Carl, a former high school counselor who was doing research for a Ph.D. degree.

Calisthenics and such sports as softball, soccer, basketball, bowling, volleyball, gymnastics, and racquetball were among the activities engaged in by physical education classes. Students were required to learn playing skills, rules, and how to keep score for the sports studied.

Board, administrators conserve energy

Energy conservation was a major concern of school board members and administrators in 1981-82. The board approved a $400,000 energy conservation program for J.E. Ober Elementary School, and conversion to propane fuel was completed for one-third of the school district's busses.

Board members approved a feasibility study of the old gym after the roof failed following severe winter weather conditions. Purchase of emergency radio equipment, including a base unit and six portable units, was also sanctioned by the school board.

Representing the board at the National School Board Association meetings April 17-20 in Atlanta, Georgia, were Mr. Jerry Weller and Mrs. Mary Lee Freeze.

Guidance office, media center offer assistance to students

Two favorite spots where students "got away from it all" were the guidance office and media center.

Assisting students with course selections, scheduling difficulties, and post-high school educational and vocational planning were three guidance counselors. Miss Lenore Lewis and Mr. Larry Piety shared high school counseling duties, and Mrs. Becky Derrow was junior high counselor.

The media center with its air conditioning, colorful decor, quiet atmosphere, and helpful staff continued to appeal to students who wished to study, find something to read, or do research for a class project. Many new books and resource materials were placed on the media center shelves during the 1981-82 school year.

New faces found at secretaries' desks

1981-1982

When the year began, only Mrs. Harriett Ludban returned to the GHS secretarial staff. New faces were found at the other three secretaries' desks. Mrs. Janet Getts moved from the position of guidance office secretary into the main office to become secretary to Principal Gaylor N. Toll. Joining her there was Mrs. Susan Bergdall, who became secretary to Assistant principal Jack D. Gibson with major responsibilities in the area of attendance control. Assuming the position of guidance office secretary was Mrs. Judy Kleeman. Mrs. Ludban continued her duties as secretary to Athletic director John C. Hutton and bookkeeper for athletic and extra-curricular funds.

Many contribute to operation of GHS

Bus drivers battled icy and snow-drifted roads throughout the winter of '82 to deliver students safely to and from school. Most drivers also took their turns at the wheel for athletic and extra-curricular trips.

A pleasant surprise for students and staff as the year began was the absence of white corridor walls in the remodeled section. In their place was an inviting combination of beige, red, and blue painted during the summer by the custodial staff.

Cafeteria workers continued to serve nutritious meals with special menus provided prior to Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter holidays.

..... in Fine Arts

Everyone needs to be able to express himself, but for everyone there is a different way of doing it. Whether we are playing musical instruments, acting up a storm in a school theatrical production, singing a solo, or performing in a choir, we are expressing ourselves through our performing talents. By using these talents, we show our pride in fine arts.

Bishop Luers competition highlights year

An invitation to compete in the Bishop Luers Midwest Show Choir Competition was the brightest highlight of the year for Garrett's very busy Swing Choir. The competition is extremely selective and by invitation only.

Members of the Limited Edition began the year by singing their way into first place at the DeKalb County Fair Swing Choir Contest. Later in the year they participated in the Belmont High School Show Competition, the Elmhurst Jazz Festival, and the Western Michigan University Jazz Festival. All three of these competitions are by invitation only.

Throughout the year they performed at various club functions and banquets. Once again the Limited Edition found themselves on the Wayne Rothgeb TV Show during the Christmas season to perform a half hour of Christmas carols at 6:30 in the morning.

Piano bought with cheese, sausage profits

The sale of cheese and sausage by the choirs made possible the purchase of an electric piano and also helped finance bus transportation to various contests, new outfits, a prop storage box, and other much needed items.

Eight GHS students were selected to be in the Tri-State Honors Choir. They included Michelle Johnson, Juanita Wagner, Molly Wappes, Jennifer Ferry, Frank Weller, Chuck Shoudel, Ed Sowles, and Phil Tschebykin.

Chorale Choir went to the ISSMA Choir Contest and received a second division rating. This was their first contest in many years.

During the year the choirs combined their talents to present spring and winter concerts and a convocation. Chorale choir performed in black formal attire while Concert choir wore robes in school colors.

Parades, competitions keep band active

For band members 1981-82 was a year of good and bad memories. At the beginning of the year the band marched at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Michigan. The parade was memorable for two reasons. It was the first parade of the season, and it was pouring down rain and very cold. However, the year did get better.

The band participated at three competitions—Eastern High School Invitational at Greentown, East Noble Invitational, and the Indiana State School Music Association (ISSMA) Regional at Northrop High School. At ISSMA Regional the band earned 64.6 points out of 100, the highest rating received by the band in four years. In honor of this accomplishment band director David Silden treated band members to pizza at Carboni's.

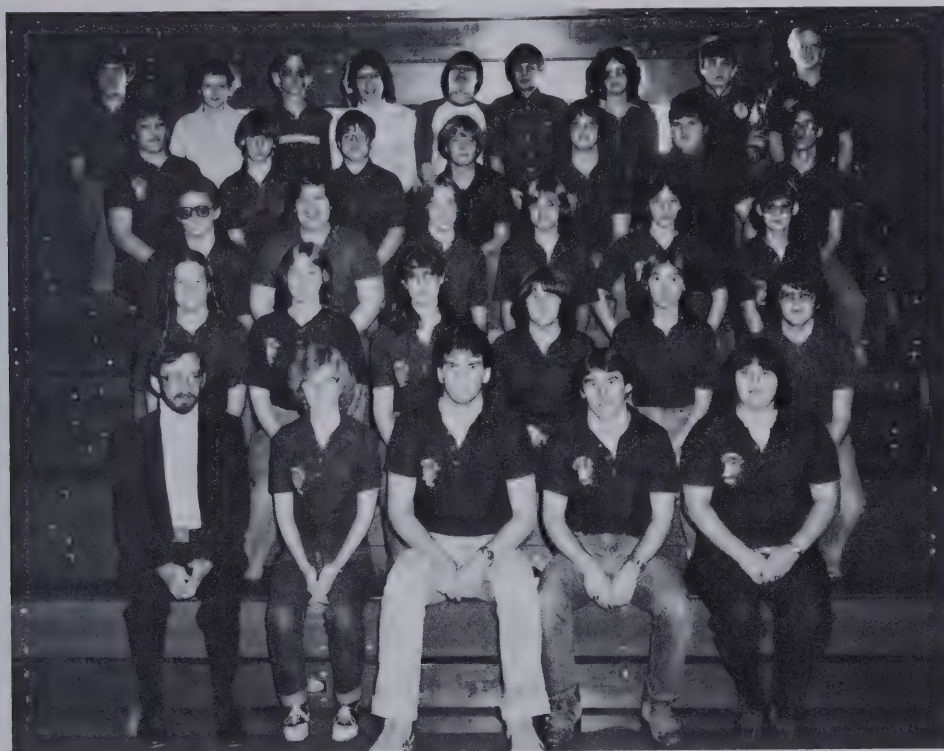

The band marched in five other parades including DeKalb County Fair parade, Hamilton parade, Garrett Days parade, Garrett Memorial Day parade, and the American Legion State Convention parade in Indianapolis.

Winter concert was cancelled; however, the spring pops concert was very successful.

Honors go to band members

Eight members of the band participated in state competition after receiving first place at regional competition. The trumpet trio consisting of Jeff Jackson, Greg Siples, and Ed Jarrett received first place at state. The clarinet quartet Melanie Lyon, Renee Andrews, Scott Wilcoxson, and Michelle Koskie received a second. Melanie also received a second with an oboe solo.

Year-end awards were presented at the band banquet May 21. The John Phillip Sousa Award was received by Jeff Jackson and the Drum Major Award was presented to Ed Jarrett. Seniors Blinda Leffel, Greg Siples, Michelle Koskie, Scott Wilcoxson and Paul Garn, as well as Jeff and Ed, received four-year plaques.

JH band, choirs begin training process

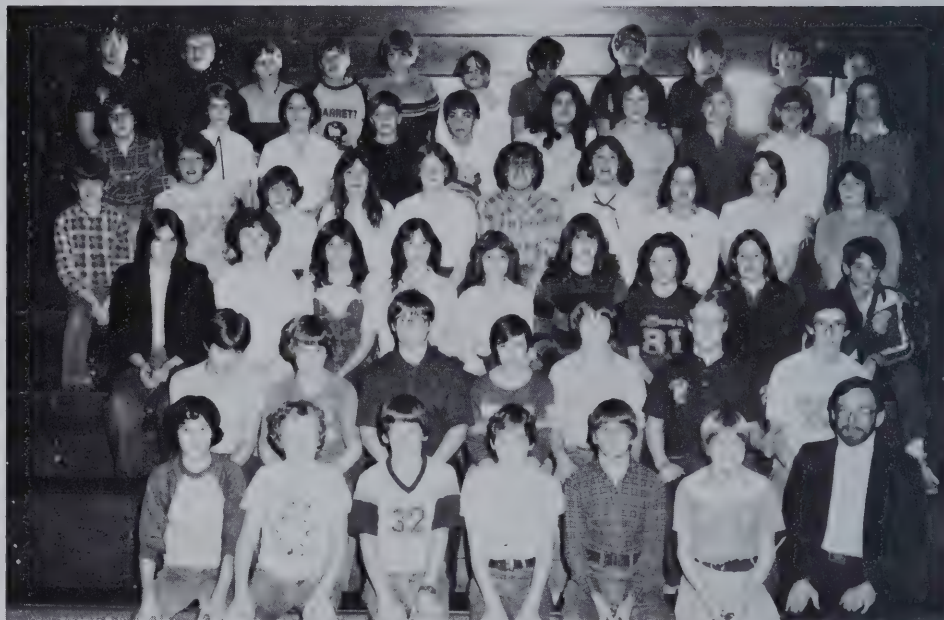

Junior high choir members performed in concerts at Christmas and in the spring. A few students added instrument accompaniment to the singing, and others choreographed the swing choir.

Another highlight of the year was a solo and ensemble contest in February in which many choir members performed.

Seventh grade band members marched at the DeKalb County Fair, while the eighth grade band marched at the last football game of the season. The combined junior high band gave one concert during the year.

Audience, actors get change of pace with 'The Crucible'

"It was good training for the audience and education for the cast to do a serious play," said Director Jerry Grayson of the GHS Thespian Troupe's production of "The Crucible," presented March 13 and 14 in Ober auditorium.

"The Crucible," a two-act drama by American playwright Arthur Miller, depicts the hysteria which reigned in the 1600's in Salem, Massachusetts, when a group of girls accused neighbors and friends of being witches. Miller wrote "The Crucible" in response to the McCarthy trials of the 1950's, drawing a parallel between the Salem witch trials and the adverse effects on the lives of those Americans falsely accused of being Communists during the McCarthy era.

"Anything Goes" opened with passengers boarding the oceanliner S.S. American. Among the celebrities are heiress Hope Harcourt, her fiancé, Sir Evelyn Oakleigh; her mother, Mrs. Harcourt; and Reno, a former evangelist, now night club entertainer; and her four Angels.

Billy Crocker arrives to give needed information to his boss, Mr. Elisha J. Whitney, a wall street broker. When Billy sees Hope, a former girlfriend, he becomes a stowaway to break up her engagement.

Moonface Martin, Public Enemy Number 13, sneaks aboard with his gun moll, Bonnie. Moon is dressed in black and is mistaken for a Bishop who has boarded with two Oriental converts. The F.B.I. captures the real Bishop instead of Moonface just as the ship sets sail. Moonface then assumes the identity of Reverend Dr. Moon.

As the plot thickens the audience rolls with laughter. A happy ending is possible only if some quick thinking and good timing occur, and of course they do.

ABOVE—Moonface Martin (Todd Gibson) fails in his attempt to frame an unsuspecting and naive Sir Evelyn (Frank Weller).

MIDDLE—Moonface (Todd Gibson), Reno (Joy Hixson), and Billy (Mike Colgate) perform "Friendship" on the ship's deck.

ABOVE—The cast and passengers perform the finale, "You're the Top".

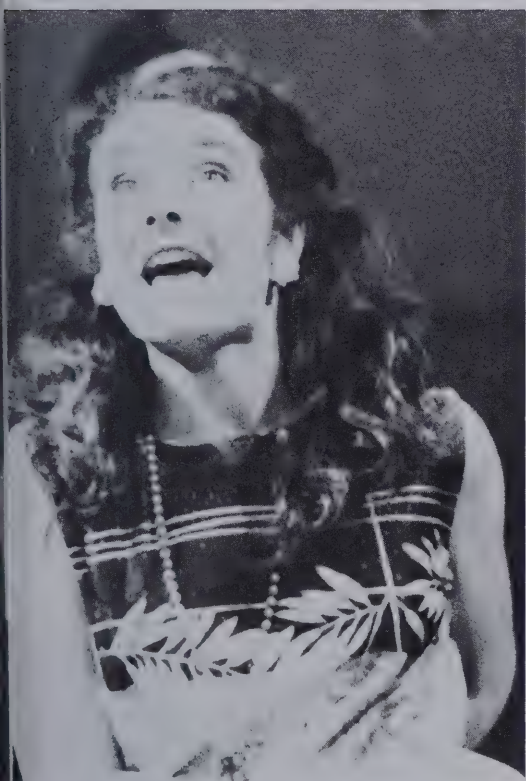

TOP—The purser (Mike Brandt) reprimands Moonface (alias the Rev. Dr. Moon) for playing poker with two Oriental converts, Ching (Chuck Shoudel) and Ling (Yumiko Kodama).

MIDDLE LEFT—Bonnie, (Jennifer Ferry) Moonface's gun moll, sings "Let's Step Out" along with the passengers.

MIDDLE RIGHT—Moonface (Todd Gibson) and Billy (Mike Colgate) try to borrow a jacket from a drunk (Dave Weimer) for another of Billy's disguises.

BOTTOM—The whole cast sways to "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" in the ship's lounge.

Senior play cast committed to rest home

Seniors presented "The Curious Savage" Dec. 5 and 6 under the direction of Mr. Jerry Grayson.

The play was set in a rest home for people with mental problems. Ethel Savage, a very wealthy woman, is committed to a rest home by her greedy children for giving a lot of her money away. At the rest home Ethel meets five residents who are supposedly insane. She then finds that the residents are nicer and kinder than her own children who just want her money.

Mr. Grayson commented, "I think the play production-wise went fine; the kids did a really good job with the lines."

■■■■■ as Seniors

In every child's life, there comes a day
When child becomes adult and must go his own way,

Driven by dreams he alone must fulfill,
Reaching high for the goal that tests his will.

The road to the top is as long as can be.
The goal, often difficult to see.

We're all going to make it; our reward is knowing

Always, as seniors, our pride is showing.

Magician, 'Whirlwind' entertain at Prom

Auburn—Cord—Deussenberg Museum in Auburn was the scene of the Junior-Senior Prom on May 15. Junior class entertained seniors with the theme,

"Nights in White Satin".

Serving as toastmaster was Jay Johnson, junior class president, who opened the evening with a welcome to students, faculty, and school board members.

Senior president Harold Kline responded and was followed by Principal Gaylord Toll and Dr. Richard Dirksen, representing the school board.

After a magical demonstration by Dick Stoner, music for dancing was provided by "Whirlwind."

Lake dips highlight Junior-Senior Picnic

A large group of students attended the Junior-Senior Picnic at Pokagon State Park May 17. An unusually warm day gave students a chance to wear shorts and T-shirts. A few brave sports swam in Lake James, while others were forcibly thrown in.

After the senior boys defeated the juniors in football, a potluck supper was enjoyed by the hungry picnickers.

Valedictory address highlights graduation

"Be thou blest with all that Heaven can send—long health, long youth, long pleasure, and a friend." This was Valedictorian Marsha Haffner's closing wish for 139 seniors of Garrett High School's 98th graduating class.

In her address, Marsha stressed the good points in being unique and care-free. "We should learn to live the moment. When looking at a flower, look . . . catch the beauty of the moment! If living happily and living now is 'care-free,' maybe people should take a lesson from the Class of '82," Marsha suggested.

Pastor James C. Platner, First Church of Christ, delivered the ministerial address. Pastor Platner gave advice to the graduating class, saying, "If you want to be greedy and accumulate and center your life on possessions, some day you and all of it will go back into the box (as in a Monopoly game), and then what will you have?

Invocation was given by Rev. Robert Chidister, First Baptist Church, followed by the welcome from senior class president Harold Kline and the Salutatory address by Jeff Jackson.

The processional and recessional were led by juniors Jay Johnson and Della Surface. Seniors were clad in gowns of royal blue (boys), maroon (girls), and white (National Honor Society). Musical selections were performed by the GHS band and combined choirs.

Skip day confirms uniqueness of seniors

Class of 1982 left its own unique mark on Garrett High School right up through graduation day. The somewhat rebel instinct of the soon-to-be graduates was confirmed May 14, when 72 seniors skipped school for a day in the sun at Chain O' Lakes State Park. These truants paid for their crime by reporting to classes on Thursday of senior week. About one-third of the graduates carried through class plans to toss caps into the air at the end of commencement ceremonies, breaking the traditionally solemn atmosphere of the occasion.

Valedictorian Marsha Haffner summed up the essence of the Class of '82 in her commencement address, saying in part:

"There is only one word that could fully describe this graduating class: unique. As a whole, we're like nothing GHS has ever seen, and this is because the individuals that make up this class are unique also. This will be a positive force in our lives, for we are going into a world that pressures us into conformity. Granted, there is a time to conform and a time not to—but through all of these times there is the need to be unique, to stand out, to be ourselves. Our own uniqueness is the very essence of our individuality. HOLD ON TO IT."

■ ■ ■ ■ in Underclassmen

There is a certain pride in being the largest group. At Garrett High School, the underclassmen make up the greater portion of the student body. GHS is not so large that we do not know most students at least by their names. However, there is a certain few we know almost better than we know ourselves. These are our close friends, and it is with them we share our pride as underclassmen.

RIGHT—Coach Kathy Maroney distributes patches to seventh grade volleyball players as they celebrate their 8-1 season at the Caboose Coffee Shop.

New events add excitement to Little 500

■ ■ ■ ■ in Community

Appreciation and pride in our community are sometimes overlooked in our day-to-day lives. We are told time and again that by ourselves we can accomplish little—we must employ the talents around us and contribute what we can. Through working and living in our community, we learn the importance of give-and-take—a value no classroom can teach. As we prepare to assume responsible roles in the community, our pride is showing.

Railroaders develop pride in athletics, activities

Staff extends thanks

Herff Jones Yearbooks, Montgomery, Alabama, printed 470 copies of the 1982 Aeolian (Volume 60). On the cover and throughout the book Times Roman type was used in the following sizes: cover, 60 point; headlines, 30 point; body copy, 10 point; picture captions, 8 point. The cover and division page artwork was designed by senior Matt Maley.

Aeolian staff extends special thanks to:

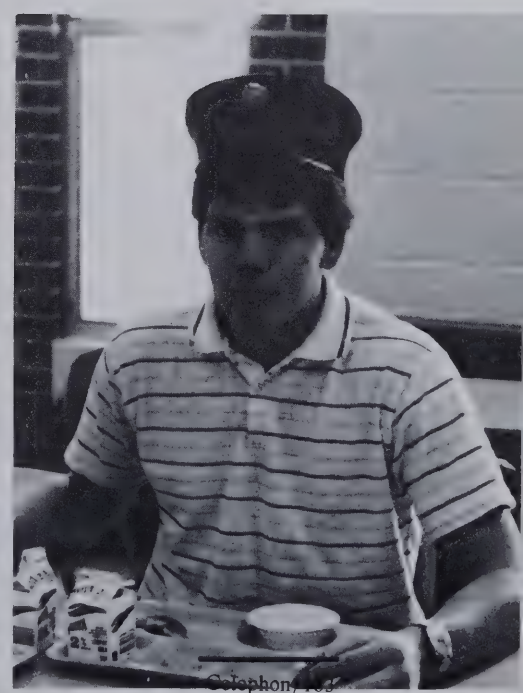

Mr. Jon Winteregg, our Herff Jones representative, for his helpful advice and criticism.

Mrs. Bonnie Miles, advisor, for her invaluable assistance and guidance.

The faculty and administration for their cooperation throughout the year.

Yearbook staff members especially wish to express appreciation to the GHS Student Council and its sponsor, Mr. Paul Johnston, for a generous contribution from candy sales profits, without which the Aeolian would still be in debt.

"Our Pride Is Showing" as GHS's 60th yearbook is sent to press.

A black and white photograph of a school hallway. The floor is covered in a thick layer of crumpled and torn papers, suggesting a cleanup or a chaotic end of a school day. On either side of the hallway are rows of metal lockers. The perspective is looking down the length of the hallway towards a door at the far end. The lighting is somewhat dim, and the overall tone is one of disorder and transition.

OUR PRIDE IS SHOWING

the last day of school
